

Abstract of the Disclosure

The present invention relates to a composition including a pigment assembly comprising a mica core, wherein the composition is intended to be applied on the skin on a mammal in need thereof for the prevention of skin damages caused by exposure to ultraviolet radiation.